FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. Are there specific entrance requirements to become a student in the Criminology Program?

The program requirements for the Criminology Diploma program are the following:

- General College Admission Requirements
- English Proficiency Requirement – English 12 C or higher or an approved equivalent.

You apply to Douglas College first. Once you are accepted, you can register in Criminology courses. Please refer to the following link: <http://www.douglascollege.ca/study-at-douglas/apply>

2. Can I take classes part-time? Do I need to take classes every semester?

Yes, you may take a class load that works with your life and schedule. Some students prefer to take fewer classes per semester, but take courses in all three semesters. Other students prefer to take five classes per semester and have their summers off (for example). You may find your schedule fluctuates depending on your other commitments, time availability, and course scheduling.

3. Do I take only Criminology courses during my studies?

No, while there are core Criminology courses you must take, your program of studies requires that you take core courses and electives outside of Criminology such as English, Psychology, Sociology and Philosophy.

4. Are all the Criminology courses listed in the calendar offered each semester?

No, for some courses we will offer multiple sections, (e.g. Intro. to CJS); for others, like our special topic courses, we may offer only one section per year. The majority of courses are offered in fall and winter with a smaller selection offered in the summer term.

5. Does Douglas College offer a Bachelor of Arts degree or Honours program?

Yes, we offer both a Bachelor of Arts in Applied Criminology, as well as an Honours degree. These options are discussed further in this handbook.

6. Can I take Criminology courses before I am accepted into a Criminology program?

Yes, most criminology courses are open to all Douglas College students. However, each course has specific pre-requisites and/or credit requirements that you must meet in order to enroll in the course.

7. Are courses offered at both New Westminster and Coquitlam campuses?

Yes, most Criminology courses are offered face-to-face at both New Westminster and David Lam campuses. A few courses are also offered on-line.

8. When do I apply for the Bachelor of Arts – Applied Criminology Program?

Admission to the Bachelor of Arts in Applied Criminology program will occur after the completion of 60 credits; however, students can apply while they are completing their last semester and receive a 'Conditional Acceptance.'

The Criminology, Applied BA program has two intakes: fall and winter.

To be accepted to the Bachelor of Arts in Applied Criminology program students must complete the following:

A two-year Liberal Arts or Science Diploma or Associate Arts (or equivalent) with a minimum cumulative GPA of 2.0.

Completion of the following courses (or equivalent):

CRIM 1100 (Introduction to the Criminal Justice System)

CRIM 1150 (Introduction to Criminology)

CRIM 1160 (Introduction to the Canadian Legal System)

CRIM 2140 (Interviewing and Professional Skills)

CRIM 2254 (Research Methods)

CRIM 2260 (Criminal Law)

One of CRIM 1120 (Introduction to Policing) or CRIM 1170 (Introduction to Corrections)

One of CRIM 2251 (Psychological Explanations of Criminal Behaviour) or

CRIM 2252 (Sociological Explanations of Criminal Behaviour)

9. How do I apply to the BA Degree in Applied Criminology?

To apply to the BA Degree in Applied Criminology go to the following link: <https://www.douglascollege.ca/future-students/apply-douglas/canadian-students>

Just make sure you have met the Admission Requirements listed in Q8 or here:

<https://www.douglascollege.ca/program/baacrim>

10. Can I complete a BA Degree in Applied Criminology in 4 years (120 credits)?

Yes, it is possible if you successfully complete 10 courses (30 credits) per year for 4 years. For example, a student might decide to complete 4 fall classes, 4 winter classes, and 2 summer classes per year. You may also need to take day or night classes or travel to both campuses depending on course offerings and the availability of seats. Please remember that fewer course options are often offered during the summer semester, and that some upper level courses are offered less frequently during the year, so plan your course schedule accordingly.

11. For the BA Applied Criminology Program, I am interested in two concentrations (e.g., Crime Analysis and Prevention, Community and Institutional Practice, or Legal Studies). Can I complete more than one within my degree?

Yes, students can complete the Program Declaration Form located in Enrolment

Services: <https://www.douglascollege.ca/current-students/enrolment-services/forms> and declare their concentrations prior to applying to graduate.

When you fill in the Program Declaration Form please:

- Add under “Current program” BAACRIM
- Under “New program,” leave the program field blank and write in the concentration(s)/minor you’d like to declare in the “Specialization/Concentration field.”
- If you plan to complete a second concentration and there isn’t space in the field, you can abbreviate to squeeze both in (e.g. Crime Analysis and Prevention “Cr Anls & Prv”).

12. Can a student use classes towards more than one credential? How do students declare having two credentials?

Yes, students can work towards two programs and they can also have some of the courses count toward two programs. The Credential Awarded Policy language is "Credits earned for one credential may be used to meet some of the requirements of a second credential of the same type. A second credential may be awarded provided those students complete 50% additional coursework."

Students can only be enrolled in one defined program/credential at a time. If a student would like to receive two credentials, they can apply for graduation twice for two different ceremonies. Students are encouraged to consult with their student success advisor to ensure they have a plan that will work.

13. Can I start a concentration before I am accepted into the BA Applied Criminology Program?

You could start to take courses toward your concentration depending on course offerings and the availability of seats.

14. Do my course credits from another institution transfer to Douglas College?

Yes, several courses are University Transferrable (UT) and will transfer as equivalent courses into the Douglas College BA in Applied Criminology. Courses that do not transfer as equivalent can often be used as general or criminology specific electives. You can check <http://www.bctransferguide.ca/> for transferability.

15. Do I continue to build on my GPA if I transfer from another institution, or do I start with a new GPA?

If you have a Douglas College GPA you will continue building upon it once you return to the college. However, if you transfer here from another institution your GPA will not transfer, but your credits will.

16. Do I get to choose my practicum placement?

You will have input into selecting your practicum placement, but you will also be working with the Practicum Coordinator. Practicum placement depends on student qualifications, experiences, and the availability of positions.

RESOURCES FOR WRITING TERM PAPERS AND ESSAYS

As a student, you will be required to write term papers and/or essays. This learning objective is essential in order to develop research, organizational and communication skills. Some important preliminary steps include planning and gathering information for the assignment. Before doing anything else, make sure that you understand the assignment fully. Do you know what the instructor expects? If not, ask for clarification until you feel confident you know what you have been asked. The following are some resources to assist you.

The library offers many valuable services for students, including writing help and online tutoring. There are also numerous guides and online tutorials for study skills and grammar skills. For information on the Learning Centre and its services please see:

<http://www.douglascollege.ca/student-services/tutoring/learning-centre>

Researching Your Paper and Choosing the Right Sources

Many of your papers in post-secondary will require you to research a topic and present other authors' work. In addition to ensuring you know how to cite the research you refer to in your paper, you need to also know what sources are reliable and which are not. In general, most formal research essays will require references to academic, peer-reviewed journal articles and scholarly works. The reason behind this distinction is that once a piece of research has gone through the rigorous peer-review process and has been published in a reputable journal, those findings and conclusions may be relied upon as being accurate and truthful. Other publications, most notably websites such as Wikipedia, often will contain information that may be biased, incomplete, or based on conjecture, stereotype or incorrect assumptions. Always consult with your professor as to what type of research they require for an assignment, and if you are ever in doubt as to the reliability of a particular piece of work, ask that instructor or the librarian.

Citing Your Research Sources

Each of your professors may choose a different reference style for which you are to complete assignments in; however, all assignments will have the necessity of citing your sources should you to refer to other authors' ideas, even if you re-work those ideas into your own words (paraphrased). You will need to become comfortable with the proper ways to cite your research within your assignments. Many helpful guides can be found on the library's website:

<https://guides.douglascollege.ca/thelearningcentre/writingtutoring>

Our Douglas College librarians are extremely knowledgeable about the proper use of citations, and are there to help should you need some guidance.

Peer Tutors

Peer tutors help with written assignments for all Douglas College courses at any stage of the writing process. Peer tutors meet with you one-on-one in real-time online to discuss your writing process in 25-minute or 55-minute sessions. Your tutor can also reserve ongoing sessions for you for a few weeks at a time to work together on specific assignments and skills.

Peer tutors can also read your writing assignments and respond with questions, feedback and resources to improve your writing. Choose a time you'd like your draft returned to you, and upload your assignment instructions and your draft. You can access the learning centre peer tutors here: <https://library.douglascollege.ca/learningcentre>

DEPARTMENT POLICY ON ACADEMIC INTEGRITY AND STUDENT CONDUCT

Graduation Requirements: Portfolio

In addition to the required program elements, students are required to compile and complete a “portfolio” before graduation, to be reviewed and approved by the BA Coordinator in the Criminology Department.

Four professional development activities:

This portfolio will outline and describe a minimum of four (4) professional development activities that the student has completed in addition to required coursework (i.e., not in-class guest lectures, videos, or other mandatory course activities) over the course of her/his degree.

The Criminology Blackboard Community page contains many possible professional development options that happen throughout the year. Faculty members within the Department of Criminology may advise students on whether an activity is appropriate for inclusion in this professional development portfolio. The choice of what to participate in, however, is ultimately up to the student’s judgment. Professional development activities may include:

- Professional development workshops (e.g. mental health, harm reduction)
- Diversity/cultural awareness training
- Conflict resolution / negotiation skills seminars
- Government module training (e.g. Sex Trafficking Training; Freedom of Information Protection of Privacy Training – available online)
- Public speaking / Professional skills development training
- Sexual violence active bystander training
- First aid certification
- Overdose prevention and response training
- Participation in college or community seminars/speakers (e.g., Urban Challenges Forum)
- Participation in academic conferences
- Membership in professional organizations (e.g., Canadian Criminal Justice Association)

Each contribution to the student’s professional development should be written up as follows for inclusion in the portfolio:

- 1 page maximum per activity
- Name of activity/workshop/course/lecture
- Date (if applicable)
- Written description of the activity
- Written analysis of how the activity has enhanced the student’s professional development

The graduation portfolio must include a current academic writing sample:

This writing sample must have been completed at some time during their undergraduate degree, must be academic, must be free of errors and properly edited and referenced. Examples of written academic work includes: term papers, critical reflection essays, critique papers, book reviews, movie analysis, honours thesis etc. If a student is unsure if their submission is not sufficient, they should contact the coordinator prior to submitting their portfolio for assistance.

In addition to these four pages, students must include a current and complete copy of their resume:

It is expected that this resume will have been worked on throughout their undergraduate degree, and should have received prior feedback from faculty. If students have not completed a resume before, they should consult with the Criminology Coordinator for what to include before submitting their portfolio.

Formatting and submission of portfolio:

Students must include all relevant information in one document and send it to the BA Coordinator: Lorree Bogden (bogdenl@douglascollege.ca). The portfolio should include a title page that lists Criminology Graduation Portfolio as the title and includes the students name, student number and date of submission. The 4 professional development activities, a copy of the students' academic writing sample, and the students' current resume should all be contained in the document. APA formatting is preferred.

Criminology Graduation Portfolio deadlines:

Although submission of the graduation portfolio is ongoing, if you are applying to graduate for the winter graduation ceremony held in February, the deadline for portfolio submissions is January 15th. If you are applying to graduate for the summer graduation ceremony held in June, the deadline for portfolio submissions is May 15th. Note that oftentimes graduation portfolios need to be revised/edited before the graduation office can receive notice that a student has successfully completed their portfolio. Be sure to give yourself enough time for revisions PRIOR to your chosen graduation ceremony date.

Contact:

If you have any questions regarding the Criminology graduation portfolio or if you are wanting to submit your portfolio, contact the BA Coordinator, Lorree Bogden at bogdenl@douglascollege.ca.

Criminology Study Tour and Field Schools

The Criminology Tour and Criminology Field Schools are designed to enable students to observe and study characteristics of justice systems abroad. In recent years, students have traveled to the countries of England, Wales, Scotland, Ireland, Holland, Belgium, France and China. The tours and field schools are approximately three weeks in length and include visits to prisons and police forces, youth correctional programs and courts. Sightseeing days are also made available.

Criminology Field Schools may involve students completing Criminology courses, as well as courses in other disciplines. This varies for each field school and/or tour. Both the Criminology Tours and Field Schools are usually offered in the summer semester (May) but advertising and registration is during October/November of the previous year. Generally, this course is dependent upon student interest, resources, and is not offered every year.

Please see Criminology faculty for information on any prospective further trips
