N: Course Content: The following global ideas guide the design and delivery of this course:
1. Individuals are unique in how they learn. Effective practitioners match teaching methods to meet the needs of the individuals, the activity at hand and the context in which it is happening.
		s are integral elements of teaching and learning because they help pinpoint areas of difficulty and and adaptations are important skills for effective the teaching and learning process, especially for those with complex needs.
	4. How and when to provide and fade	assistance are important elements of effective teaching and learning which promote personal a ves the individual, team and family or support network process. This process provides greater opportunity for generalization of newly acquired sk actitioners' actions and interactions. It is reflected in their and their respect for the individuals they support and with whom they work. o teaching and learning interactions. They include recognizing and practising a range	of communication methods, both verbal and non-verbal, expressive and receptive.
