F: Calendar Description: This course works from macro planning issues, such as standards and mandated curriculum, to micro issues relating to implementation of curriculum. By studying the aims and goals of physical education as they are expressed by National and Provincial bodies, students will obtain the necessary backdrop for in-depth analysis of instructional and organizational issues that limit or support those aims within the real world context that British Columbia's coaches and teachers face. Discussions will include all pedagogical structures: activities, lessons, sessions, units, phases and annual plans.

M: Course objectives / learning outcomes

1. Students will be able to compare and contrast multiple curriculum models with the aim of highlighting their key strengths and weaknesses.
2. Students will be able to demonstrate understanding of the organization of the BC K-7 and BC 8-12 Physical Education Curricula as represented in the Integrated Resource Packages.
3. Students will be able to articulate the broad aims of physical education in their own words.
4. Students will be able to identify safety and risk management issues related to specific units or lessons.
5. In their own words, students will be able to identify a number of issues or considerations that relate to implementing the curriculum. For example, cultural issues, equipment and space constraints, time allocation etc.
6. Students will be able to critically discuss a number of extra-curricular and extended curriculum considerations, such as, intramurals, event planning, student volunteering and leadership initiatives, etc.
7. Students will be able to demonstrate their understanding of annual planning by developing a theoretical annual plan based on the British Columbia curriculum, or in the case of coaching, a specific sports goal.
8. Students will be able to describe methods of assessment and evaluation in physical education and coaching
9. Students will be able to articulate an understanding of advocacy and identify the key elements of successful advocacy in physical activity programming
10. Students will be able to apply research methods to a variety of curricular topics and demonstrate an ability to critique educational resources.

 - College policy on student behaviour and expectations will be expected to be upheld during all class activities at all times.
 - Personal and social responsibility may be evaluated in class participation, group discussions and/or group assignments
- c. Intercultural, international and global perspectives:
 - Students will be encouraged to research, compare and discuss curriculum designs and models from outside British Columbia

Q: Means of Assessment

The selection of evaluation tools for this course is based upon:

1. Adherence to college evaluation policy regarding number and weighing of evaluations, for example a course of three credits or more should have at least three separate evaluations.
2. A developmental approach to evaluation that is sequenced and progressive.
3. Evaluation is used as a teaching tool for both students and instructors.
4. Commitment to student participation in evaluation through such processes as self and peer evaluation, and program/ instructor evaluation.

A sample assessment could include:

Curriculum Research Project	30%
Aims and Issues Debate	20%
Community Interview	15%
Module assignments and participation	15%
Final assignment or exam	20%
Total	100%
